DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-2, 4-6, and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Chopin US 6740312.

Chopin teaches a method of making titania by subjecting a titanium salt solution to hydrolysis by heating under the presence of a carboxyl group or a carbonyl group (Column 4 Line 64 – Column 5 Line 30), and then further carrying out heat treatment with an acid (Column 7 Lines 1-7). Chopin teaches that the solution is boiled and that it maybe acidic.

Chopin does not expressly teach the product limitations of claim 1. However, where the claimed and prior art product(s) are identical or substantially identical, or are produced by identical or substantially identical process(es) the burden of proof is on applicant to establish that the prior art product(s) do not necessarily or inherently possess the characteristics of the instantly claimed product(s), see In re Best, 195 USPQ 430.

Claims 1-2, 4-8, 10, and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Domen US 2003/0162658.

Domen teaches a process of making spherical shaped titanium oxide (Paragraph 37). The titanium dioxide is formed by mixing a titanium compound, at least one compound selected from glycols and alcohols and a polyhydric carboxylic acid. The resulting mixture is heated (Paragraphs 29-34).

Domen does not expressly teach all the product limitations of claim 1. However, where the claimed and prior art product(s) are identical or substantially identical, or are produced by identical or substantially identical process(es) the burden of proof is on applicant to establish that the prior art product(s) do not necessarily or inherently possess the characteristics of the instantly claimed product(s), see In re Best, 195 USPQ 430.

Claims 1-2 and 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Olson US 4732750.

Olsen teaches a spherical titania (Column 1 Lines 40-45) with a surface area of about 300 m<sup>2</sup>/g, which would include a surface area of 327 m<sup>2</sup>/g.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 2/4/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

With respect to applicant's arguments over Chopin, the product obtained by Chopin appears to be the same as the instant product, since the process limitations of instant claims 6 and 7 are the same.

In response to applicant's argument that Chopin fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the liquid medium is obtained once hydrolysis has been carried out, and separation of the precipitated smaller solid from the mother liquids before being redispersed in a liquid medium) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
